

Stockert Residence

The Stockert Residence Design / Build project called for a complete renovation in order to achieve our client's objective of transforming their property from a Modern French Contemporary style to an English Cottage Garden style. A lush lawn was planted with evergreen fescue to soften the color palette of the landscape. Large boulders were positioned to separate the family lawn area from the vista of the Chattahoochee River. We added a low rock wall in the front of the residence and accented it with American Boxwoods and incorporated multiple varieties of textural plant material throughout the property.
